As soon as a new cookie statement is applied, your consent for the use of cookies will be asked again. New EU legislation requires that we let you know how we use cookies. The text below explains what cookies are and what we use them for on our website.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small text file that is sent from a website and is saved on the visitor's computer's hard disk while he/she surfs to a website. When in the future this person surfs to the same website, the data saved in the cookie can be retrieved by the website. In this way the website knows the visitor's previous activity. Cookies are a reliable mechanism to remember the status of the website or the activity history of a visitor. Cookies help us to optimise your visit to our website, to remember technical choices and to show more relevant services and offers. Cookies may include: clicking on certain buttons, logging on to a website, recording of the pages visited by the user. Cookies cannot contain viruses and cannot install malware. Tracking cookies and third-party tracking cookies are often used to compile long-term data of your browser history. This cookie statement is in accordance with current Belgian Legislation (Act of 10/07/2012 laying down provisions on electronic communication, Belgian Official Gazette 20/09/2012).

Different types of cookies

Strictly necessary cookies

These cookies are essential to navigate the website and use the functions. Without these cookies some parts of a website will not work (optimally). These cookies do not collect data that can be used for marketing purposes or to remember your browsing history.

Functional cookies

These cookies remember certain choices you made on the website (e.g. choice of language) to give you a better, more personalised browsing experience. This information is saved anonymously.

Tracking cookies

These cookies will survive user sessions. When the maximum age of a permanent cookie is set at 1 year, within that year the initial value, recorded in this cookie, will be sent to the server again every time the user visits the server. This is done to save essential information. That is also why they are called tracking cookies.

Performance cookies

These cookies help to improve the performance of the website and ensure a better user experience. Antiques & Design nv uses Google Analytics, a popular web analysis service offered by Google Inc. Google Analytics uses cookies to help Antiques & Design nv analyse how users use the website. It registers the number of visitors and gives Antiques & Design nv information about the overall visitor behaviour, such as the typical duration of a visit to the website or the number of pages visited by a user on average.

Third-party cookies

To support its forms of communication Antiques & Design nv anchored the content in social media channels, such as Facebook and LinkedIn. Antiques & Design nv also uses the sharing possibilities on social networks. The channels Antiques & Design nv uses may contain cookies of these websites. Antiques & Design nv does not check them.
